Telehealth Policies & Consent

I may choose to engage in telemedicine with Gia Marson, Ed.D. for psychotherapy. I understand that "telemedicine" includes the practice of health care delivery, diagnosis, consultation, treatment, transfer of medical data, and education using interactive audio, video, or data communications. I understand that telemedicine also involves the communication of my medical/mental information, both orally and visually, to health care practitioners located in California or outside of California.

Because of recent advances in communication technology, the field of tele-therapy has evolved. It has allowed individuals who may not have local access to a mental health professional to use electronic means to receive services. Because it is relatively new, there is not a lot of research indicating that it is an effective means of receiving therapy. An important part of therapy is sitting face to face with an individual, where non-verbal communication (body signals) are readily available to both therapist and client. Without this information, tele-therapy may be slower to progress or less effective. With the telephone/audio, the client's tone of voice, pauses and choice of words become especially important and therefore an important focus of the sessions. What is important here is that you are aware that tele-therapy may or may not be as effective as in-person therapy and therefore we must pay close attention to your progress and periodically evaluate the effectiveness of this form of therapy.

If Dr. Marson has not met you in person, she may request that you be interviewed by a professional in your area and allow her to talk to that individual before proceeding with therapy. With tele-therapy, there is the question of where is the therapy occurring – at the therapist's office or the location of the client? The law has not yet clarified this issue, therefore it is Dr. Marson's policy to inform clients that they are receiving services from my office (as if they were physically traveling to Santa Monica or Malibu) and therefore are bound by the laws of the State of California. These laws are primarily related to confidentiality as outlined in these office policies. I understand and certify that I must be a resident of CA when I agree to engage in tele-therapy with Dr. Marson because that is where she is licensed.

I understand that I have the following rights with respect to telemedicine:

(1) I have the right to withhold or withdraw consent at any time without affecting my right to future care or treatment nor risking the loss or withdrawal of any program benefits to which I would otherwise be entitled. (2) The laws that protect the confidentiality of my medical information also apply to telemedicine. As such, I understand that the information disclosed by me during the course of my therapy is generally confidential. However, there are both mandatory and permissive exceptions to confidentiality, including, but not limited to reporting child, elder, and dependent adult abuse; expressed threats of violence towards an ascertainable victim; and where I make my mental or emotional state an issue in a legal proceeding. I also understand that the dissemination of any personally identifiable images or information from the telemedicine interaction to researchers or other entities shall not occur without my written consent. (3) I understand that there are risks and consequences from telemedicine, including, but not limited to, the possibility, despite reasonable efforts on the part of Dr. Marson, that: the transmission of my medical information could be disrupted or distorted by technical failures; the transmission of my medical information could be interrupted by unauthorized persons; and/or the electronic storage of my medical information could be accessed by unauthorized persons. In addition, I understand that telemedicine based services and care may not be as complete as face-to-face services. I also understand that if Dr. Marson believes I would be better served by another form of psychotherapeutic services (e.g. face-to-face services) I will be referred to a psychotherapist who can provide such services in my area. Finally, I understand that there are potential risks and benefits associated with any form of psychotherapy, and that despite my efforts and the efforts of my psychotherapist, my condition may not improve, and in some cases may even get worse. (4) I understand that I may benefit from telemedicine, but that results cannot be guaranteed or assured. (5) I understand that I have a right to access my medical information and copies of medical records in accordance with California law.

Telemedicine Consent I have read and understand the telemedicine information provided in this paperwork. I have discussed any questions with Dr. Marson and they have been answered to my satisfaction. My signature below is an indication of my agreement.
